The director of the animation, Alésia YU, a young girl from Hong Kong, shared that she wants the animation to bring joy and happiness to the audience with the baby angels' laughter and innocence. The animation is a 5-minute short film that shows the life of a baby angel named Amelie on the clouds in heaven with her baby angel friends Noah, Theo and Cloudia. The little angels live happily in heaven with the angel chiefs and they play on cloud slides and make cloud cotton candy. "I hope this film resonates with the pure hearts and gentle souls who love heaven and the angels." shared Alésia.

The film was created with AI using Nano Banana 2 and Seedance 2.0. The budget of the film was only USD300. "I tried making some AI photos using the online tools now available, and after some tryouts, I found that the results with Nano Banana was brilliant and it gave me the full vision of how heaven can be. The cartoon characters were so adorable and cute, I decided to make it into an e-book. I was exploring via Google and found out Seedance 2.0 which I used to turn images to videos. The background sounds with little angels' laughter and short lines were so amazing that I decided to apply to some international film festivals. I never thought I would literally be winning in some of the awards," said Alésia, the director of An Angel's Diary.

Director's Statement

- My dream is to have an animated cartoon about the life of little angels in heaven with the angel chiefs and Jesus and Heavenly Father among the clouds.
- I hope to make an animation that is suitable for children and toddlers and can grow up with them.
- I don't mind if someone can expand this idea and make it real!
- Hope this animation brings joy to you and your friends!
- This An Angel's Diary animation is part of my Christian Ministry work as a student at the good theology school Evangel Seminary Hong Kong.
- I hope many people find An Angel's Diary inspiring and joyful to watch the laughter of the little angels.
- I also hope that parents find it comfortable and safe for their children and toddlers to watch Angels' Diary.
